ALDERMAN ON TRIAL ON BRIBERY CHARGE.

Scores a Point When Eaves-Drop-About Police Headquarters to-day this ping Stenographer Says She question is being asked: "How can John Finley hold his job?" A fine of Can't Read Notes.

The trial of Herman Kallenberg, a mount to a dismissal, and, say the wiseacres of No. 300 Mulberry street, it New Rochelle Alderman, indicted last was in the belief that John Finley would April on a charge of soliciting a bribe. quit that it was levied. But Finley was begun to-day before Justice Newsays he will stick. He is a $1,400 a year man, and feels he cannot afford to lose the twenty-two years' time he-mas divoted to police duty.

So far as the public is concerned, there is only one question in the case of John Finley. Of what use is a patrolman with such a record to the citizens of New York?

"Why was not Patrolman Finley dismissed from the force instead of being nined such, an unprecedented sum?"

The Evening World reporter asked Deputy Mathot to-day.

"Too busy to talk," was the reply, and from Commissioner Bingham's office practically the same response was sent.

The sergeant at the desk at Finley's station, the East Twenty-second street, dismissed the Finley question in a few words.

"John Finley?" he queried, when the reporter approached him for his opinion. "Well, it won't take me long't to tell you about John. His trouble is a hot temsays he will stick. He is a $1,400 a year | burger in the Criminal Branch of the Capt. O'Brien, of Finley's precinct, declined to discuss the case.

Men's Overcoats

Winter weight nor the light weight of the usual raincoat. We have met this need exactly in the new garments which we have now in our stocks. One new style that has just appeared is made of handsome fancy cheviot, in a medium weight, 52 inches long, semi-form fitting, made with self collars, and satin-lined shoulders and s'eeves. The fabric is of just the right weight to give proper protection on days that the weather slightly moderate; and is likely to be rainy. The fabrics are cravenetted, and as thoroughly rainproof as the regulation Raincoats, being a little heavier in weight, and with all the style and character of a handsome Winter Overcoat. Price, $23.

Other Overcoats in similar weights of cravenetted double-faced unfinished worsteds, in Oxford mixture and black, at $30 and $35.

only one of each kind; as they cannot be duplicated, we offer them this morning at REMARKABLY LOW PRICES. Mothers, with daughters home for the holidays, will be interested in these wonderful ralucs. They are charming, dressy suits, of style and quality, in lovely colors, and are most effectively trimmed with braid and buttons.
